Nature Parks

Hokkaido is a land of majestic nature and shows a different face each season.

To protect and to promote trouble-free use of such magnificent landscapes of Mother Nature, nature parks were developed.

Hokkaido has 23 national nature parks where visitors can enjoy nature in countless ways.

Akan National Park

This park boasts of primeval landscapes, a tapestry of forests, lakes and volcanoes, which are peculiar to the northern area. Lake Akan, listed in the "Ramsar Convention of Wetlands," is the only natural habitat of marimo in Japan.

Shiretoko National Park

Shiretoko Peninsula is said to be the only primeval terrain left in Japan. In July 2005, it was listed as a World Heritage

Drive safely

Surrounded by nature, driving on wide roads with scenic landscapes in itself is fun in Hokkaido. Yet, an accident will spoil such pleasure.
